CALL FOR PAPERS**

15th ANNUAL MEETING of the
Slavic Linguistics Society

Where: Indiana University, Bloomington, Indiana, USA

When: September 4–6, 2020

We invite you to submit an abstract to the 15th annual meeting of the Slavic Linguistics Society on the campus of Indiana University, Bloomington, September 4–6, 2020.

Keynote speakers:

Joanna Błaszczak (University of Wrocław)
Željko Bošković (University of Connecticut)
Małgorzata Ćavar (Indiana University)
Maria Polinsky (University of Maryland)

Papers dealing with any aspect of Slavic linguistics and within any framework are appropriate, as well as those that represent cross-disciplinary approaches (sociolinguistics, computational linguistics, language acquisition, etc.). This year submissions in SLA are particularly welcome. All talks are for 20 minutes, plus 10 minutes for discussion.

DEADLINE FOR SUBMISSION OF ABSTRACTS: 10 April 2020

GUIDELINES FOR SUBMISSION OF ABSTRACTS:

We appreciate current visa issues, as well as the need to plan your travel, and so we will make an effort to accept abstracts on an on-going basis. What this means is that in the middle of February, as well as after the official April 10 deadline, we will review all newly-received abstracts. Your abstract should:

- Be anonymous
- Be submitted in PDF format, with all non-standard fonts embedded
- Be no longer than two pages including references, figures, and data (single-spaced with 1 inch margins, 12-point text, preferably Times New Roman)

As appropriate, identify the framework, describe the methodology, explain how the data are analyzed—in other words, please be as concrete and specific as possible in describing your work.

Abstracts should be submitted using EasyAbs: <http://linguistlist.org/easyabs/sls15in2020>. If you are a student, under the “Institution” field please also include that information (in order to be considered for a student travel grant and/or the Charles E. Townsend Award).

- An individual may submit at most one single and one co-authored paper
- Up-to-date SLS membership is required for presenting at the annual meeting
